Mr. Adeel Rauf, President Sarhad Chamber of Commerce and Industry, worthy Members of the Executive Council of the Chamber, Ladies and Gentlemen and my dear Teachers & Students,

A commitment of life — that is what I embarked on in Pakistan three decades ago. Very soon, I shall be completing 32 years in this country. It has been a glorious past full of ups and downs. I suppose it's going to be much the same in the days to come — likes and dislikes, success and failure, appreciation and negative criticism. The present days are also not much different with tranquility and upheavals going together. These days we face criticism due to increase in fees. One of my principles is to pay due and just salaries and wages to my teaching faculty and associate staff. I can proudly claim that our employees are satisfied, steady and stable. Some of them have been with me for 27 years! Think of their seniority, pay scales and salaries. Each employee receives the due benefit when the government announces a raise in the salaries.

The history of my students has also been equally glorious. One is encouraged to see that God Almighty has blessed us with an army of honourable and successful old students in all walks of life. One of them is amongst us today as the Guest of Honour.

Mr. Adeel Rauf, Chairman SCCI is a young businessman who has proved his genius in his field over a very short span of time. However, the hard work, endeavor and struggle that he has put in, to reach at the pinnacle of success is incalculable. In school life, he studied earnestly and participated actively in co-curricular activities. After his F.Sc. from Edwardes college and B.Sc. Electrical Engineering from UET, he followed courses of business administration in Japan. Upon his return, he joined the family business. At present, he is the President of Sarhad Chamber of Commerce and Industry and a life member of Federation of Pakistan Chamber of Commerce and Industry. He has been the winner of the award for the Largest Exporter of Safety Matches for 6 consecutive years. I fondly remember his generous father as the Chief Guest of the first raffle I had in St. Mary's, and today his son gets the honour to be our Chief Guest in St. Francis'.

All the parents want their children to excel in life and we, at St. Francis', have incorporated a joint venture with the parents for making their children what they want them to be — responsible citizens, immaculate professionals and above all, virtuous human beings. We try to play our role perfectly by providing them quality education, moral training and all the other facilities needed to bring excellence in their personalities. Apart from our curricular activities, we provide them with opportunities to polish their talents in every manner. Talents need appreciation, and we appreciate them by awarding them trophies and certificates in their respective domain of excellence, let it be academics, speeches, poetry, fine arts, athletics or sports. Today, we are all gathered here to applaud the academic and co-curricular achievements of our students over the last academic year.

We feel exalted when parents come to us and appreciate our efforts in providing their children all these opportunities and facilities, at the most reasonable cost, in spite of all the constraints that we face, while running this institution. I take this opportunity to express my gratitude to all those parents who acknowledge our efforts and are thankful for what we are doing for their children. At times, they have to bear with us in certain unavoidable circumstances. In fact these are the parents who realize the importance of what we are doing and they understand that their investment in their children's education is going to go a long long way in the realization of the dreams they have for their children. Good schooling provides a firm foundation on which an individual builds his career. I am sure, Mr. Adeel Rauf, what you have learnt and acquired during your school days must have been a vital tool for shaping up your career and the first rung on the ladder of success. It must have been the sound educational substructure that helped you to rise to such an excellence, that today, you are sitting as the Guest of Honour, with your former Principal and teachers. I strongly wish that our students of today keep honouring this chair in the days to come.

Let's keep playing our roles earnestly and diligently and a bright future for our children is ahead of us.

Thank you parents for encouraging your children and supervising their studies at home. Thank you teachers for your devotion to duty and imparting knowledge to your students. Thank you boys and girls for your hard work in studies. Be encouraged and do not give way to discouragement. You should learn to treat success and failure in life in equal manner. That will make you all, perfect ladies and gentlemen.

God bless you all.
